

LUXSECRET™

Beauty, Brains And Drive?

Y-100's Drive Time Diva, Ninalicia Osorio has redefined the meaning of a triple threat! Venezuelan-born Ninalicia, better known as Michael Yo's (from the E! Channel) spunky and sexy co-host on the Y-100 Yo! Show is going full speed ahead, and holding no mercy. From cheerleader and spokesperson for the Florida Marlins to a gorgeous Miami/Los Angeles radio personality, Ninalicia has recently added American Entertainment Columnist for LuxSecret Magazine to her repertoire.

As our Entertainment Luxury Columnist in the Americas she will be giving readers the official scoop on luxury secrets that celebrities and executives from the music and entertainment industry indulge in. Get to know Ninalicia and stay tuned for her column in our next issue.

Nina is a force to be reckoned with, and destined to be a household name. With a top-rated radio show, Miamians and LA residents alike appreciate that Nina's not afraid to speak her mind while giving listeners a dose of her witty, yet honest banter.

Arriving in the U.S. from Maracaibo, Venezuela with her family at the age of ten, Nina has been a dancer for years, classically trained in both Jazz and ballet. In 2006, along with 300 other girls, Nina auditioned for a spot as a dancer for the Florida Marlins Mermaids. The first baseball team in history to have a dance/cheerleading team. After claiming her space in baseball and dance history, Nina kept it strong for two consecutive seasons. Her talents spread beyond the field, and she was chosen as spokesperson for the Florida Marlins Mermaids.

From there Nina made great connections and eventually crossed paths with Michael Yo, host of The Michael Yo! Show, and an E! Celebrity Correspondent. He saw her talents on the mike, her charm and charisma, and demanded she be his cohost.

Since their partnership in 2007, many opportunities have been presented to Nina, her recent projects include: Spokesperson for Little In The Middle-a jeans, a company that promotes the natural shape of a woman. Spokesperson for Gown Time, as well as the Creative Director and head dancer for Rock With U Entertainment- a top of the line entertainment company. Nina has also appeared on numerous TV interviews, magazine layouts, billboards, commercials and is frequently used for photo shoots.

LUXURY INSIDER

Look for Nina in the hit show, Kourtney and Khloe Take Miami, on the E! Network where Nina's featured in numerous episodes, and has been asked to return for next season!

She is the triple threat redefined: Fashion Model (Beauty), Writer (Brains), and On Air DJ (Drive). Now thats redefining the industry!

Follow Nina
twitter

Catch Nina on-air on Y-100's The Michael Yo! Show during Miami weekdays from 2p-6p, and in LA weekdays 11a-3p.